Canada second-last in G8 climate report card

ENVIRONMENT. A new study suggests Canada ranks second to last among G8 countries when it comes to addressing global warming.

Only the United States scores lower on the Group of Eight Climate Scorecard, released yesterday by the World Wildlife Fund.

The study also found that none of the eight countries are making improvements large enough to prevent drastic temperature increases.

The World Wildlife Fund say none of the G8 countries are even halfway to meeting ideal emissions targets.

It says Britain has done the most to reach emissions targets set out in the Kyoto Protocol, with France and Germany close behind. Following in order are Italy, Japan, Russia, Canada and the United States.

The scorecards were released ahead of next week's gathering of the Group of Eight on the northern Japanese island of Hokkaido.

Cops arrested as part of grow-op

Two Toronto police officers enlisted the help of a real estate agent to buy and sell properties they converted to marijuana grow operations in order to fuel a massive "criminal enterprise," police said yesterday.

Constables Patrick Lee and Kevin Bourne are two of 20 people charged in connection with a large-scale operation to produce and distribute drugs and launder the proceeds. A realtor, three correctional officers and 14 civilians will appear with the officers in Newmarket court this morning to face myriad charges, including conspiracy to produce marijuana and participating in a criminal organization.

While not the only corruption scandal to rock the service in recent years, this incident is the first to link members of the Toronto police with marijuana grow-ops.

"It is, frankly, a betrayal of all the hard-working and decent men and women of the Toronto Police Service ... "
Police Chief Bill Blair

"It's a huge disappointment to us as a group," Police Chief Bill Blair said yesterday.

"It is more than a betrayal of office. It is, frankly, a betrayal of all the hard-working and decent men and women of the Toronto Police Service and the policing profession in this country."

The two officers will be suspended from their duties with full pay if they are released from custody, Blair said. They are scheduled to appear in a Newmarket court this morning.

Three houses, five vehicles, $60,000 in cash, nearly eight kilograms of marijuana and other drugs, such as ecstasy, and production equipment, were seized early yesterday when officers executed 63 search warrants on businesses, homes, and several cars.

Officers took 23 people into custody around 6 a.m., but charged only 20 people — 19 adults and one youth — with various offences.

Ontario on precipice of recession, stats show

Ontario is teetering toward a recession as new statistics show the province's economy shrank in the first three months of the year.

Slammed by thousands of job losses in manufacturing, a high dollar and rising oil prices, Ontario's economic output fell 0.3 per cent from January to March — the first quarterly contraction since 2006.

A recession is defined as two consecutive quarters of a shrinking economy, which means the province could be in one now. It won't be known until figures are released in mid-October.

Finance Minister Dwight Duncan tried to put the best face on the numbers, saying the decline was "anticipated" — a sentiment echoed by leading economists given the layoffs prompted by the steep economic downturn in the U.S.

"It was pretty clear Ontario would underperform the nation," said Derek Burleton of TD Bank, who put the odds of a recession at "too close to call."

But it was the magnitude of the first-quarter slide — about four times the rate of the Canada-wide decline — that caught the attention of Bay Street.

"To shrink by that is a sizable amount," said senior economist Michael Gregory of BMO Capital Markets.

Tech glitch disrupts traffic lights

A computer error caused traffic lights across the city to malfunction yesterday morning, leaving some early commuters stranded. At about 5:30 a.m., one of the central servers that control the city's traffic light system went offline, and about 100 lights from Scarborough to Etobicoke were frozen for about an hour, said Steve Kemp, a senior engineer with Toronto Transportation.

TTC drops firearms option for constables

Guns, Tasers no longer considered in security review

The TTC is no longer considering arming its special constables with Tasers and guns.

Firearms for transit police were among the options being studied by an outside consultant hired to do a health and safety risk assessment of the job.

But the terms of the assessment were changed in May to exclude Tasers and guns, TTC spokesperson Brad Ross said yesterday.

review out later in year

The TTC review of special constables will be issued later this year by a consulting firm called the Centre for Security Training and Management Inc.

Ross stressed the $100,000 review is designed to maximize the safety of the 95 special constables, TTC employees and passengers, and protect TTC property.

It now will focus on what special constables can do to ensure the greatest safety for all concerned without firearms, Ross said.

Special constables, who make about 950 arrests annually, already have expandable batons, handcuffs, pepper spray and Kevlar vests at their disposal. Many are former police officers.

The use of Tasers has come under national scrutiny since a man died in October 2007 at the Vancouver airport after being zapped by RCMP officers. A public complaints commission subsequently recommended the Mounties restrict their use of Tasers. Vancouver is believed to be the only transit system in Canada where constables carry Tasers. Councillor pushes for more in-store toilets

CITY HALL. Toronto stores should have to provide their customers with a place to pee as well as a place to pay, says Coun. Howard Moscoe.

Moscoe persuaded the licensing and standards committee to ask for a staff report on how the city could require merchants to provide washrooms — a requirement Moscoe says is already contained in the Ontario Building Code.

While washrooms are built into stores, many merchants block them off with walls or locked doors.

"This weekend I visited three Shoppers Drug Marts and asked to use the washroom," Moscoe wrote to the committee.

"In all cases I was advised that the company does not provide public washrooms."

> "I don't think it's a burning issue."
> Coun. Denzil Minnan-Wong

Moscoe (Ward 15, Eglinton-Lawrence) said he's only interested in requiring big stores like supermarkets and big drugstores to provide washrooms.

The only dissenter on the committee was Coun. Denzil Minnan-Wong (Ward 34, Don Valley East). "I don't think it's a burning issue," he said.

Judith Andrew, vice-president of the Canadian Federation of Independent Business, said Moscoe's idea is imposing one more burden on struggling businesses. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Man guilty of blowing up house

COURT. A Mississauga man angry that his ex-wife was forcing him out deliberately blew his house up, a jury has decided.

John Walkiewicz, 55, was found guilty of criminal negligence causing bodily harm in connection with the destruction of his south Mississauga home on Aug. 28, 2006.

Jurors also found him guilty of arson endangering life in reaching their verdict Wednesday around 10 p.m. after more than five hours of deliberation in a Brampton courtroom.

He was acquitted of two counts of arson in connection with damage caused to adjacent homes.

Walkiewicz, who was injured in the blast, remains in custody as a sentencing date is sought.

Walkiewicz fired his lawyer before jurors reached their verdict.

A passerby, Steven Allen, was also seriously injured in the morning explosion that levelled the home on Duchess Drive and extensively damaged adjacent residences. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Festival taste of diverse food carts

EVENT. Even though John Filion's attempt to get diverse food carts on the street this summer has failed due to funding woes and bureaucratic red tape, he's still convinced Toronto needs them.

The Willowdale councillor has organized an international food festival in Mel Lastman Square, beginning tonight and held every Friday in July, to showcase what healthy, ethnic foods could be sold.

"This started out of frustration of not being able to introduce street food carts this summer," said Filion, who scouted out six vendors whose specialties range from Korean barbecue to organic vegetarian.

"It's hopefully a bit of a preview of what there will be a lot more of next summer," he said.

Dishes on sale include mango salad, jerk chicken, fajitas, fruit smoothies, kebabs and grilled vegetable wraps. Entrées will be about $6. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Club, Island residents feud over

CITY HALL. The feud is officially over.

With new ownership running the Docks — now called Polson Pier — the decade-long battle between the club and solace-seeking Toronto Island residents has fizzled, the Ontario Court of Appeal ruled yesterday, declaring the case "moot."

The club's thumping bass and late-night patio parties are gone, replaced with a nearly soundproof indoor concert venue and a hall often rented for wedding receptions and bar mitzvahs.

"They run their business, and they don't bother their neighbours, and everyone's happy," said islander Lynn Robinson.

The Alcohol and Gaming Commission of Ontario and City of Toronto were in court to try to have a 2007 ruling — allowing the club to keep its licence, in light of evidence it had addressed complaints — overturned, to set a legal precedent. But because of the new ownership, the court decided the case was no longer relevant.

"All the parties worked together in good faith, and it looks promising," said Rosanne Giulietti, legal counsel for the city. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Vaughan looks to revamp tickets

The city of Vaughan is eyeing a new dispute resolution system to deal with a large backlog of parking ticket cases, a problem it shares with Toronto and other municipalities facing a shortage of court time.

Under the new system — which would roll out in fall 2009, if Vaughan council approves it this fall — a driver receiving a ticket would have the right to ask that a city-appointed screening officer review it, not the courts.

The screening officer would have the power to cancel, affirm or vary the penalty. Drivers could appeal that decision to a hearing officer, whose decision would be final.

The new officers would be independent and quasi-judicial.

Vaughan issued about 40,000 parking tickets in each of 2006 and 2007. The vast majority were paid without a trial, but 1,800 requests for trials remain outstanding, according to a city report.

A shortage of justices of the peace in York Region is part of the problem, as is the fact Vaughan is allocated only two court days per month in provincial court.

The new system could also apply for city licensing infractions.

Maximum penalties for parking tickets would be $100, and for violating licence bylaws, $350.

Tickets with fines of more than $100 or related to disabled-parking infractions would probably stay in provincial court

Terror witness gets discharge

THREATENING A police agent who is the Crown's star witness in a homegrown terror trial has pleaded guilty to threatening to chop off the legs of two 12-year-old girls.

Mubin Shaikh, 32, was given a one-year conditional discharge yesterday after admitting to one count of threatening to cause bodily harm in a case unrelated to the trial taking place in Brampton.

Shaikh paid $300,000 to infiltrate the "Toronto 18" terror group. Final arguments in the case of a youth who allegedly belonged to the group begin next week.

According to an agreed statement of facts Shaikh got into an argument with the girls on April 3, 2007, as they walked to Kane Senior Middle School, near his home in the Keele Street and Eglinton Avenue West area.

"I had to protect my kids. It's as simple as that."
Mubin Shaikh

During the dispute, Shaikh, a former army cadet with martial arts training, said: "Do you know who I am? I'm going to chop off your legs."

Shaikh said the dispute was sparked when youths surrounded and threatened his children, ages 1 and 3. "I had to protect my kids. It's as simple as that," he said.

But according to a police synopsis, the dispute started after he made comments from his van to the girls concerning their supposed truancy. Police alleged that he left his vehicle and approached them.

Old grain mill could be rebuilt

HUMBER RIVER The oldest grain mill on the Humber River isn't dead yet.

"The chance is there to rebuild," Greg Olson, an investigator with the Fire Marshal's Office, said yesterday after an initial survey of the damage from the spectacular Canada Day eve fire at the Hayhoe Brothers Mill in Woodbridge.

The mill is believed to be the area's oldest business, and is also the last of the 80 flour mills that once lined the Humber River.

Olson estimated the damage to be upwards of $2-million, but said it was largely confined to the two upper floors.

Challenges await Harper at G8 summit

A food crisis that has pushed more than 100 million people into poverty ranks high on an agenda of daunting challenges as Prime Minister Stephen Harper and other world leaders prepare for the annual Group of Eight summit next week in Japan.

The G8 is under intense pressure to take immediate joint action to significantly increase aid to developing countries and revamp agricultural policies — including farm subsidies and biofuels incentives — that are widely seen as contributing to soaring food prices.

"If ever there were a time to act, together, as one, it is now," United Nations chief Ban Ki-moon said recently. He will be at this year's summit urging leaders to tackle the interrelated problems of high food prices, global warming and declining support for the fight against poverty.

But Father Lucien Larre says he had to speak out anyway.

"I have trouble with Dr. Morgentaler getting the Order of Canada," Larre said.

He said giving Morgentaler the honour "degrades" it and for people who are opposed to abortion. He received the Order of Canada in 1983 for founding the Bosco Centres for emotionally disturbed and addicted adolescents.

Larre was later convicted of assault on a teen he worked with but pardoned shortly after.

TRAFFIC TICKET. Alberta's justice minister is reviewing a provincial court decision to strike down a 2003 traffic ticket issued to a francophone trucker because it was written only in English. Judge Leo Wenden ruled this week that Alberta's Languages Act and Traffic Safety Act do not apply to Gilles Caron because they are not written in French.

LANGUAGE. An Ontario woman who has lived her entire life on the mainland has developed a Newfoundland accent as a result of a serious stroke she suffered two years ago, say researchers who call the case a first in Canada. Physicians determined Rose Dore is suffering from foreign-accent syndrome.

Israelis discover enemy within

Some Israelis believe they have discovered a new enemy in the wake of Wednesday's shocking rampage along two Jerusalem streets by an enraged Arab construction worker that left three people dead and dozens injured.

Adversaries are nothing new for Israel, but this time the perceived enemy is located within its borders and is even eligible for social welfare benefits from the Jewish state.

Deputy Israeli Prime Minister Haim Ramon yesterday urged that large sections of Jerusalem that are populated by Arabs should be walled off from Jewish neighbourhoods as a security precaution.

The Arabs forced out by the wall should have their Israel residency permits revoked, he said, and lose their right to medical and other benefits.

Unlike other embittered Arabs who have carried out terrorist attacks in Israel in recent years, the perpetrator of Wednesday's carnage, Hasam Dwayat, was not from the West Bank or the Gaza Strip, but was a legal resident of Israel itself.

So was Alaa Abu Dhein, who murdered eight students at a Jewish seminary in Jerusalem in March.

Both men were among the more than 250,000 Arab residents of Jerusalem who nowadays live in neighbourhoods — often still referred to as "villages" — that were taken over by Israel when it captured East Jerusalem from Jordan in the 1967 Six Day War.

Suicide sparks heated debate

Healthy woman took drugs

Bettina Schardt knew the combination of drugs she drank in the living room of her home in Wuerzburg last week would kill her.

But this was no ordinary suicide. A German doctor told her just the right formula of antimalarial drugs and tranquilizers she needed to commit suicide painlessly — and he set up a camera to film her death.

The case has set off a firestorm here not only because of the way Dr. Roger Kusch has publicized his role in the death — holding a press conference in which he played snippets of the woman's last moments — but also because the 79-year-old Schardt was not in pain or ill. She was healthy and simply wanted to avoid moving into a nursing home.

Mistrial declared in diet-drug case

KENTUCKY. A Kentucky judge has declared a mistrial in the case of two lawyers charged with defrauding clients of $65 million in a diet-drug settlement.

The ruling came yesterday after jurors said they were deadlocked.

The case has been closely watched in the horse-racing industry because William Gallion and Shirley Cunningham are part-owners of 2007's Horse of the Year, Curlin.

The jury had considered the case against the suspended lawyers for eight days. A third defendant was acquitted earlier this week. All faced a single charge of conspiracy to commit wire fraud.

Jurors were dismissed and left without commenting. Judge William Bertelseman ordered Gallion and Cunningham sent back to jail.

Two banks predict economy recovery

Growth shrank in first quarter: StatsCan

Canada's national economy got a mild vote of confidence from two chartered banks yesterday as they forecast moderate growth this year and next, but a rougher ride ahead for Ontario's industrial sector.

The Royal Bank said Canada will bounce back from a first-quarter retreat to record a 1.4 per cent rate of growth this year and 2.5 per cent next, a little rosier than a BMO Capital Markets outlook for 1 per cent growth this year and 2.2 per cent next year.

But both banks said central Canada, and particularly Ontario, will continue to face stiff headwinds as a result of the strong dollar, weak U.S. demand for exports, particularly autos, and high energy prices.

Statistics Canada has reported the national economy as a whole shrank by 0.1 per cent in the first quarter or 0.3 per cent on an annualized basis.

The bank reports suggest the Canadian economy will escape recession, but the high prices for oil, minerals, grain and other commodities that have propped up Alberta, Saskatchewan and other western provinces in recent years will continue to squeeze drivers, shoppers and auto workers.

THE CANADIAN PRESS

no good news for Ontario

BMO senior economist Michael Gregory said his bank believes Ontario will only manage a minuscule 0.2 per cent annualized increase in 2008, just barely above recessionary levels.

CAW post candidate pressured?

TORONTO. A candidate for one of the two top leadership posts with the Canadian Auto Workers union says she's received high-level pressure to support a so-called "team" that doesn't include her.

Carol Phillips, who wants to become CAW's next secretary-treasurer, said yesterday that some assistants to retiring president Buzz Hargrove have told her who to endorse during the push for early decisions on the two most powerful positions in the union. Phillips, a longtime assistant to Hargrove and his predecessor Bob White, revealed members of the union's national executive board also received instructions on who to support.

Ticats roar past Argos

Lumsden scores two TDs as Hamilton spoils T.O. opener

Casey Printers and Jesse Lumsden ran for two TDs each as the Hamilton Tiger-Cats spoiled the Argonauts home opener with a 32-13 win last night.

Hamilton earned just its second win in 19 regular-season meetings with Toronto and halted a nine-game losing streak against its arch rival.

For the second straight week Argos starter Kerry Joseph had trouble consistently moving the offence, frustrating the 30,822 spectators with the Rogers Centre roof rolled back. It was the biggest crowd for an Argos home opener since 1992 when 36,682 were on hand.

Hamilton's offence, which looked terrible in last week's 33-10 season-opening loss to Montreal, looked much crisper against Toronto. With Lumsden leading the way (20 carries, 189 yards), the Ticats ran effectively against the Argos' 3-4 alignment and Lumsden's five-yard TD run at 3:50 of the third put the visitors ahead 21-6.

The former McMaster star cemented the win with a 57-yard touchdown run at 11:33 of the fourth for a 32-13 Hamilton lead. Printers finished 16-of-23 passing for 171 yards and also ran for 33 yards on eight carries.

As a team, Hamilton rushed for more than 300 yards in the game.

Leafs get Grabovski for prospect, pick

NHL The rival Canadiens and Maple Leafs completed a rare trade yesterday, with Montreal sending forward Mikhail Grabovski to Toronto in exchange for prospect Greg Pateryn and a second-round draft pick in 2010.

Grabovski, 24, had nine points (3-6) in 27 NHL games with the Habs over the past two seasons. He was a fifth-round pick, 150th overall, in 2004. He also had 20 points (8-12) in 12 games with the American Hockey League's Hamilton Bulldogs last season.

"Mikhail had tremendous success at the most recent World Hockey Championship (for Belarus)," Leafs GM Cliff Fletcher said in a statement. "He has great upside and we will look for him to contribute for us right away at the centre position."

Pateryn, 18, was drafted in the fifth round, 128th overall, by the Leafs last month in Ottawa.

Giving newcomers a head start

The Government of Canada believes in immigration. We want more newcomers to join us and be an important part of Canada's future. That's why we are improving our immigration system by:

1. Creating a more flexible, fair and responsive immigration system
The changes to Canada's immigration laws will help to attract the skilled workers Canada needs most and ensure families are reunited faster.

2. Helping internationally trained individuals
The Foreign Credentials Referral Office was created in 2007 to help newcomers get the information they need to have their credentials assessed and recognized in Canada.

3. Increasing settlement funding
The Government of Canada has invested $1.4 billion more in settlement funding, which includes language training and job search and employment services to help newcomers succeed and make a new home in Canada.

4. Reducing the Right of Permanent Residence Fee
The federal government reduced the right of permanent residence fee from $975 to $490.

'Riders in for wakeup call

Saskatchewan GM may regret bold predictions

YorkReport

Marty York

marty.york@metronews.ca

You'd think Eric Tillman would know better by now.

Tillman, after all, has been in CFL management for decades. You figured he'd know that one measly game doesn't exactly make a season.

And yet, after the Roughriders turned in a strong fourth quarter last week to defeat the Edmonton Eskimos 34-13, the Saskatchewan general manager shot off his mouth.

"To a man," Tillman burbled, "our coaches and players believe we're going to be a better team (than last year)."

This, of course, is laughable, and I'm giggling accordingly. All the Riders did last season was win the Grey Cup. All they did in the off-season was lose vital parts of their team, including coach Kent Austin, quarterback and CFL MVP Kerry Joseph, defensive stars Fred Perry and Reggie Hunt and ball-carrying threat Corey Holmes.

So the Riders win one game against a troubled team last week and Tillman decides to deride those of us who predicted his squad's demise.

"What a lot of supposed experts in the media didn't seem to realize," Tillman said, "is this is real football, not fantasy football."

I reckon Tillman will get a dose of reality tonight — in B.C., where the Lions should run roughshod over the not-so-Roughriders.

• Jarrett Payton is the son of NFL legend Walter Payton, and he led the Alouettes in rushing last season, but neither was enough to keep him around in Montreal.

The Als have cut him. Their new running back is Avon Cobourne, who gained 107 yards last week in Montreal's triumph rout of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

For more CFL stuff, check out my weekly CFL Report, exclusively at www.metronews.ca.

• In baseball, the recent return of manager Cito Gaston hasn't made much difference to the Blue Jays, who continue to languish in the AL East cellar and prepare to be sellers before MLB's July 31 trade deadline.

Yahoo Sports columnist Steve Henson gives the Jays a midseason grade of C- and blasts them with this: "Too many knee-jerk decisions and off-hand comments from the front office. Too little wiggle room in a division where the one consolation the Jays always could count on — being better than the Tampa Bay Rays — has deserted them."

"People keep thinking we'll fold, but we know we won't. We're for real."
Tampa Bay Rays GM Andrew Friedman

The first-place Rays, meanwhile, are Henson's only A+ team.

"People keep thinking we'll fold," Rays general manager Andrew Friedman told me, "but we know we won't. We're for real."

And the Rays intend to be buyers, hoping to fortify their already strong pitching by acquiring the Cleveland Indians' C.C. Sabathia, the Seattle Mariners' Erik Bedard, the Oakland A's Rich Harden or maybe even the Jays' A.J. Burnett.

Marty York has been a groundbreaking sports columnist and broadcaster in Canada for decades.

Bush will attend Games opening

POLITICS U.S. President George W. Bush will attend the opening ceremonies of the Olympics in Beijing.

While there was no question Bush would attend the Olympic games in August, the president's plans for the opening ceremonies had not been confirmed until now.

Some world leaders have hinted they may boycott the Aug. 8 opening event to protest the crackdown in Tibet.

UNDEFEATED. Calgarian paralympic athlete Earle Connor — the undefeated champion in the 100-metre dash — will compete for Canada at the Games in Beijing. Pick up Monday's Metro for more.

34 days remain until the official start of the 2008 Summer Olympic Games in Beijing.

Swimsuit swamps records

LZR Racer credited as times fall on road to the Olympics

Alex Baumann can recall a time when it didn't take 15 minutes to squeeze into your swimsuit.

But there's little doubt in the 1984 double Olympic gold medallist's mind what he'd be wearing if he was getting ready for the 2008 Beijing Summer Games — the same Speedo LZR Racer model in which more than 40 world records have been broken since February.

"Certainly, I would be wearing it if I would be competing now," he said.

He's not alone. Even swimmers who have deals with rival companies are switching allegiances.

Among the defections are Japanese star Kosuke Kitajima, who last month shattered the world record in the 200-metre breaststroke while wearing the LZR Racer on a trial basis. Needless to say, he's not switching now, having grudgingly gotten the go-ahead from the Japan Swimming Federation and Mizuno, his swimwear sponsor.

Nike also gave permission to seven of its U.S. swimmers to use the suit at the U.S. Olympic trials.

"It's caught the world by surprise so much that we have to keep in mind it's about the swimmer," said Canadian Olympic team head coach Tom Johnson.

Speedo sponsors the Canadian team; they got their new suits after their Olympic trials in April. They have been wearing them in competition since, establishing personal bests, setting a handful of Canadian records, but not exactly setting the world on fire.

But that's pretty much where Canada stood before.

"It still comes down to the fact you better be a well-prepared athlete or you don't have a hope in hell, suit or no suit," said Johnson.

Some critics have called it "technological doping," but Speedo had the suit approved by swimming's international governing body, FINA, and complied with their demands to make it available to everyone competing in Beijing.

There's also a lawsuit. Tyr Sport Inc. is suing Speedo for allegedly violating antitrust laws, restraint of trade and false advertising.

But for the most part, swimmers are enamoured of this suit made from high-density microfibre.

"The women love it," said Speedo executive Stu Isaac. "I tell them they're wearing a designer Italian fabric."

Review Kit Kittredge: refreshingly nonsexualized world

Girls will love tale of plucky Kit

RICK MCGINNIS
rick.mcginnis@.metronews.ca

Kit Kittredge: An American Girl
Director: Patricia Rozema
Stars: Abigail Breslin, Joan Cusack, Stanley Tucci
Rating: G
Grade: ●●●●½

WHOLESOME FARE. It's hard to find fault with the line of dolls that inspired — and underwrote, to some degree — Patricia Rozema's Kit Kittredge.

The American Girl dolls have colonized a nice stretch of girlhood coinciding roughly with grade school with a gratefully non-sexualized world that aims to teach a generation of daughters about history, friendship, self-reliance and respect, a cohort of 18-inch tall figures holding back the bulwark against hordes of Bratz dolls.

Abigail Breslin plays Kit, a sassy but essentially sweet-tempered young girl whose 1934 has gone from middle class to mid-Depression as her father loses his job and leaves Cleveland (ably played here by Toronto) for Chicago to look for work, and her mother is forced to take in boarders.

Chris O'Donnell seems a bit young for his role here as Kit's dad, but he's AWOL from the story for its vast middle stretch, so it isn't a real problem.

In any case, at least one parent needs to go missing if the protagonist in a children's story is going to get their shot at an adventure, and it arrives in the form of a house full of eccentric boarders (played by Joan Cusack, Stanley Tucci and Jane Krakowski), a pair of young hobos (Willow Smith and Max Thieriot) and a string of robberies the authorities blame on the homeless and jobless filling the hobo jungles on the edge of town.

It takes too long for the story to really kick in, and as a result it never gets up a good head of steam, but that might not be a minus for the movie's intended audiences: the little girls between five and 12 who are thrilled for the chance to see a world come to life that they've only imagined in hours of play and in the bestselling AG books.

The scene-setting, not the thriller, is the heart of the experience for them, and because of this, all critical caveats are qualified into meaninglessness.

Reel Toronto

Kit Kittredge was filmed entirely in Toronto. Eagle-eyed Torontonians will recognize the Don River valley as it fills in for a 1930s "hobo jungle" in Cincinnati, Ohio. The film's director, Patricia Rozema, was born in Kingston, Ont., and now lives in Toronto.

Abigail Breslin, centre, stars as a Depression-era girl who helps solve a mystery that saves her family home. Madison Davenport, left, and Brieanne Jansen also star.

Review Savage Grace: 'Deeply shallow'

No saving Grace

ADAM NAYMAN
for Metro Canada

Savage Grace
Director: Tom Kalin
Stars: Julianne Moore, Stephen Dillane
Rating: 18A
Grade:

LIKE HIS 1992 debut film Swoon, Tom Kalin's Savage Grace applies a post-modern sensibility to a lurid story torn from yellowed headlines: In lieu of a thinly veiled Leopold and Loeb, Kalin restages the 1972 murder of American socialite Barbara Daly Baekeland (wife to the heir of the Bakelite plastics empire).

That the film is told from the murderer's point of view — and that said murderer is Baekeland's late son Anthony, with whom she had engaged in incestuous activities to "cure" him of his homosexuality — should give the material some queasy, true-crime-thriller pull, but the tone is so chicly chilly as to preclude even cheap heat.

Inevitably, period pastiche queen Julianne Moore plays Baekeland, and her quietly ferocious performance is easily the best thing about the film.

With the opportunity to over-act all but served up on a silver platter, she opts for underplaying, shrinking the dimensions of her broadly sketched society gorgon role down to human scale.

Julianne Moore plays the lead, and her quietly ferocious performance is easily the best thing about the film.

But the writing is dreadful right from the opening voice-over, in which Anthony (played as a child by Barney Clark and as an adult by Eddie Redmayne), describes himself as the steamy residue of a failed marriage between hot and cold. (There was, you may recall, a similar monologue in This Is Spinal Tap, where the tortured metaphor was funny on purpose).

Kalin wears his art on his sleeve, framing the action with dramatic angles and punctuating the decades-spanning melodrama — Anthony goes from mama's boy to mama's man — with none-more-noirish-ish musical cues.

It's all a very self-consciously arch, and that might even be a canny choice for a film about people whose high-toned insularity led to their undoing, but it suggests Kalin saw this material primarily as the means to an aesthetic end.

The film investigates its tragic, complex real-life characters only to caricature and exploit them. It's about superficiality, but it's also extremely superficial — a deeply shallow movie.

Review Brick Lane: Torn between two worlds

Tannishtha Chatterjee stars as a woman in an arranged marriage in Brick Lane.

Down the Lane of life

RICK MCGINNIS
rick.mcginnis@metronews.ca

Brick Lane
Director: Sarah Gavron
Stars: Tannishtha Chatterjee, Satish Kaushik
Rating: 14A
Grade: ●●●○○

AS SOON as the basic plot points of Brick Lane are laid out — a mother's suicide, an arranged marriage, life in chilly, racist London, an oafish husband — you start to mentally settle in for the usual, vaguely melodramatic ride that will likely take you to those familiar places — a glimpse of freedom, a forbidden affair, an awful confrontation and, almost inevitably, a tragic ending. Director Sarah Gavron's Brick Lane, based on the book by Monica Ali, hits its marks with clockwork precision as we get to know the unhappy life of Nazneen (Tannishtha Chatterjee) in the East End London neighbourhood that gives the movie its title.

An arranged marriage with Chanu (Satish Kaushik), a corpulent and self-important oaf, allowed her younger sister to remain home in Bangladesh, where she regales her older sister with tales of her many romances while Nazneed suffocates in their cramped council flat.

When her husband quits his job, she takes in piecework sewing, delivered weekly by handsome Karim (Christopher Simpson), and an affair begins that makes her doubt her longstanding ambition to return home to her sister.

When 9/11 radicalizes Karim and makes her husband decide, after long delays, that a return home is imperative, she's suddenly forced to choose what she really wants from her life.

The film strives to transcend the usual clichés about Muslim and immigrant life, but the premise is so venerable that it never really manages this considerable feat — despite fine performances by Chatterjee and Kaushik in particular — until near the end, when it rouses an unexpected twist in its tail.

HANCOCK

●●●○○ (OUT OF 5)

Comic book aficionados will instantly spot the patchwork of some of the genre's classically corruptible characters that make up Will Smith's flawed protagonist: Hancock drinks like Tony Stark, causes mayhem like Bruce Banner's better half (and I don't mean Betty Ross), and like X-Man, is a nearly indestructible, ill-tempered boor who can't remember his past. And, like all three, he has his heart in the right place when it comes to saving the world — he just has to overcome his inner demons.

Steve Carell takes over the role made famous by Don Adams in the original TV series — Maxwell Smart, the bumbling but cocksure secret agent who succeeds in spite of his best efforts. Anne Hathaway does a fine job with Agent 99, played by Barbara Feldon in the TV series, ably matching Feldon's innate sexiness; the only real flaw in Hathaway's portrayal is her inability to evoke the fetchingly neurotic quality Feldon brought to the role.

RICK McGINNIS/METRO CANADA

THE INCREDIBLE HULK

Ed Norton plays Bruce Banner, the character made famous by Bill Bixby in the '70s. The film sets things up quickly — Banner in exile in Brazil, searching for a cure for his "condition" — and rewards us with an action piece and the first appearance of Banner's hulking alter ego in the first half-hour. We get the love interest (Liv Tyler), the bad guys (William Hurt and Tim Roth), and the conspiracy theory plot mechanism with a secret military program.

WALL-E

In the absence of his creators, Wall-E, the big-eyed trash-compacting robot is left to dig mankind out of its own mess on Earth. He has developed a lovelorn little soul, until Eve arrives. Eve is a sleek, iPod-like creature looking for signs of plant life that means Earth is becoming habitable again. When she's taken to the mothership after finding the seedling Wall-E's been tending, he hitches along for the ride.

Feature WALL-E: Say Hello, Dolly!

WALL-E's soundtrack was inspired by some legendary musicals.

Finding WALL-E's inspiration in a classic

FEATURE Jerry Herman, eyes welling with tears, could hardly believe what he was hearing as he watched the new animated blockbuster WALL-E.

The composer of the Tony-winning musical Hello, Dolly! had licensed songs from the 1964 show to Pixar — The Walt Disney Co.'s computer animation arm — but he had no idea his music and lyrics would factor so prominently in the story line of the sci-fi robot romance.

"I'm still blown away by the fact that two songs of mine that are close to 50 years old have been used as the underpinning" of the movie, Herman said in an interview from Los Angeles.

Writer-director Andrew Stanton used the tunes Put On Your Sunday Clothes and It Only Takes A Moment to express the psyche of the love-starved, trash-compacting robot WALL-E.

"My eyes were really wet at both the opening and the closing of the film, and just the wonderful way those songs were used to make him more human," Herman said. "That's really what they did."

Laughing, Herman said it was "so weird" the songs would be used in a robot movie.

"I thought it was a perfect counterpoint to have this sort of almost naive optimism in the song."
Andrew Stanton

But he said the theme of Hello, Dolly! — about a 19th-century widowed matchmaker who learns to live again — is relevant to the world of WALL-E, where chubby, unmotivated humans are pampered by robots in a giant space ship before a wake-up call jolts them out of complacency.

"It's about a basic need for people to go on with life and not shut themselves away and to make the most out of the time we have on this planet," Herman said.

For a film with little human dialogue, WALL-E was the box-office champion in its opening weekend, nudging the Angelina Jolie thriller Wanted to second place.

WALL-E opens with panoramic views of galaxies far away, using Sunday Clothes as a sunny soundtrack. But the song's exuberant lyrics — Out there/There's a world outside of Yonkers — take on new meaning when the scene shifts to the bleak atmosphere of WALL-E's homeland: Garbage-ridden planet Earth.

Stanton said he knew he wanted to juxtapose retro music with this futuristic setting but discovered "a perfect fit" to his narrative when he stumbled upon the Hello, Dolly! repertoire and the lyric "out there." (In the musical, it is the song that a Yonkers store clerk croons as he and his apprentice plan their New York City adventure.)

"I thought it was a perfect counterpoint to have this sort of almost naive optimism in the song," Stanton said.

"But then it seemed even more appropriate the more I thought about it, because the song is about two naive guys (who) have never left their small town and they just want to go to the big city for one night, live it up and kiss a girl. And I thought, 'That is my main character.'"

And in those first images of planets and stars, "you're meeting WALL-E's dreams before you ever get to meet WALL-E. And I love that. That was just so poetic to me," Stanton said.

High-flying Jonas Bros. set down in Toronto

SANDY CAETANO
sandy.caetano@metronews.ca

The Jonas Brothers

PROFILE One of the hottest bands right now for teenaged girls across the globe are none other than pop trio The Jonas Brothers, who will be launching their Burning Up tour in Toronto.

The Jonas Brothers set concert box offices across the country on fire when tickets for their tour went on sale in April, which also includes their first stop and sold out show at Toronto's Molson Amphitheatre tonight.

"Oh my gosh, we can't wait, we were looking at pictures of the venue today and it's an amazing place, we love it, we spent a lot of time there because we filmed Camp Rock there and it was a very big deal for us to start our tour there," 20-year-old Kevin Jonas tells Metro.

Jonas says the best part for him and his brothers Joe and Nick, is getting up on stage in front of thousands of screaming fans. The energy from their fans transfer to them on stage, and vice versa.

"For us playing city to city is always very interesting … there's just something about a certain audience in a certain city that's out of control," he says. "Sometimes audiences really surprise us when they're out of their minds, and we just love it because the more they go crazy, the crazier we go and the better the show is — we soak their energy and try to shoot it right back out."

Clearing Crystal Castles

ROB MCMAHON
for Metro Canada

Record-store riots, after-parties shut down by police helicopters and copyright woes are just some of the incidents surrounding Crystal Castles.

But given the group's non-committal public persona, all this drama seems to just enhance their mystique.

Reached by e-mail, producer Ethan Kath (or not, given that friends have conducted interviews on his behalf) explained the band's position in a recent controversy over plagiarism from the Chiptune community, an online group of not-for-profit music producers who create and share songs created from samples of old video game tunes.

Last month Crystal Castles was accused of sampling a song by Belgian producer Lo-bat without securing proper copyright. Kath claims that in 2004, all of Crystal Castles' tracks were based on samples from artists like Madonna, Joy Division, and Chiptune, but by 2005 they were using their own sounds.

"(The songs in question) are the earliest, most obscure, never performed, worst songs by CC," writes Kath. "Lo-bat … has contacted the band's management to apologize for the controversy saying he thinks it's ridiculous, this has nothing to do with him, it's clear that the band has never profited from these samples. These ancient songs have nothing to do with the band's current success."

Driving that success is the duo's album itself. One way to view their snarling electro punk is through contrasts. More overtly aggressive, chaotic tracks like Alice Practice can be interpreted as balancing comparatively mellow, rhythmic ones like Untrust Us. The compositions themselves seem to cover a pretty wide range of emotional dynamics — though Kath disagrees.

"This is all subjective. You hear contrasts. I hear the same hostility in every song," he writes.

• Crystal Castles play the Beats, Breaks & Culture event at the Harbourfront this Saturday. Ladytron will also be featured at the festival. To read Metro's Ladytron feature check out Metronews.ca.

Current classics of a new rock age

SoundCheck
Alan Cross

When I saw the Entertainment Weekly cover story called "The New Classics: The 1000 Best Movies, Albums Books & More of the Last 25 Years," I flipped to their list of albums and immediately became a little nauseous.

Beyoncé's Dangerously in Love at 19 while the Beastie Boys' Paul's Boutique only managed 43? The Joshua Tree at 63, a full 54 positions behind Amy Winehouse? Nirvana's Unplugged (11) album ahead of Nevermind, which didn't even make the top 100? Heck, even the Widow Cobain's Live Through This squeaked in at 99.

I realize that lists such as these are designed to make people mad. It gets people talking about your magazine during that double-issue drought around July 4. But I can't help but take the bait. Here then, are what I believe to be the ten most indispensable rock albums released since 1983 that EW didn't feel worthy for their list.

• Licensed to Ill/ Beastie Boys (1986): Frat-boy humour that resulted in the first ever No. 1 rap album. The sounds of suburbs haven't been the same since.

• The Stone Roses/ The Stone Roses (1989): After the Smiths' The Queen is Dead (73), quite possibly the most important British album of the decade.

• Violator/Depeche Mode (1990): The surprise North American success of their seventh studio album hinted at the alternative revolution that was to follow a year later.

• Nevermind/ Nirvana (1991): A no-brainer. The album that ushered in the alternative nation. Mainstream rock hasn't been the same since.

• Bloodsugarsexmagik/ Red Hot Chili Peppers (1991): The combination of producer Rick Rubin and new guitarist John Frusciante kick new life into some old grooves.

• Ten/ Pearl Jam (1991): Sure, they've distanced themselves from the arena rock sound of their first album, but it's still their best.

• Automatic for the People/ REM (1992): Five singles and one of the most brilliant videos ever ("Everybody Hurts"), it represents REM at their peak.

• Rage Against the Machine/ Rage Against the Machine (1992): Probably more important today than it was when it was released.

• Fully Completely/ Tragically Hip (1993): Okay, so EW wouldn't have bothered with anything Canadian outside of Alanis Morissette, Neil Young and the Arcade Fire. But do you know any self-respecting Canadian who doesn't own this record?

• Definitely Maybe/ Oasis (1995): Snotty and full of ambitious arrogance, their first album kicked off the Britpop era.

The Ongoing History of New Music can be heard on stations across Canada. Read the Music Geek blog at ongoinghistory.com

The Tragically Hip's Fully Completely is an indispensable album says columnist Alan Cross.

Amos Lee

Album: Last Days at the Lodge
Label: Bluenote/Capitol/EMI
Release date: 06/24/08
Grade: ●●●●○
THIS SINGER-SONGWRITER has an extraordinary ability to merge soul with hardscrabble folk-blues, the sounds of Marvin Gaye and Al Green with those of Bob Dylan and Ben Harper. Produced impeccably by Don Was with some great musicians helping out like keyboardist Spooner Oldham (from Neil Young) and Doyle Bramhall Jr. (from Eric Clapton). I love this guy.

GRAHAM ROCKINGHAM

Ron Sexsmith

Album: Exit Strategy of the Soul
Label: Warner
Release date: 07/01/08
Grade: ●●●●○
UNDERSTATED AND WINSOME best sum up this Canadian songster's strengths. He's won over fans in, among others, Coldplay's Chris Martin and Feist — the latter co-wrote Brandy Alexander with Sexsmith and got first dibs to record it for last year's The Reminder. Sexsmith's take on the song exudes soulful charm; the remainder of this outing delivers hope, sadness and spiritualized comfort, nicely enveloped by tender piano and '70s throwback horns from a Cuban duo.

Olympic hopeful Maria Sharapova on tennis, fashion and turning 21.

By Laura deCarufel
Senior Editor

Wearing an aquamarine Lanvin frock, a diamond tiara and a gleaming new Grand Carrera watch given to her by TAG Heuer, the sponsor of tonight's party, Maria Sharapova is celebrating her 21st birthday in style. We're at Tenjune, a subterranean bar in New York's Meatpacking District, which is packed with fashion stars like Anna Wintour and Vera Wang. The tennis star's birthday wish? "I just want to stay healthy, so that I can continue to perform on the tennis court," she says. "After a tough year with my shoulder injury, now I just want health!" It's hard to believe that Sharapova, one of the world's top-ranked female tennis players, is only now entering formal adulthood. She has been famous since 2004, when, all of 17, she upset Serena Williams to win Wimbledon.

Next up is Sharapova's self-described biggest challenge yet: a shot at Olympic gold. "I'll be treating the Olympics like a treat — a grand slam," she says, with a grin. "I'm sure I'll have plenty of nerves, but that's why I love to compete at the highest levels. I'm really looking forward to the entire experience — from the opening cermonies to meeting all the other great athletes."

Sopranos star heading to Mars

MARS NEEDS ACTORS: The dispiriting saga that is ABC's Americanization of Life On Mars continues with a story this week on some further changes to the cast of a show whose pilot was already finished and leaked onto the Internet last month. Along with the usual recap of what's happened so far — David E. Kelley buys rights, makes show, walks away, new showrunners added, location changed, future iffy — Variety announced that no less than former Sopranos star Michael Imperioli has been added to the cast, as a "not-so-politically correct tough-guy colleague" to Jason O'Mara's modern cop knocked back to the '70s after being hit with a car.

Casting of Imperioli suggests producers are hairy to ratchet up star power after moving the setting from L.A. to New York, and tweaks on major renovations will probably be in progress all summer long. In any case, you can smell flopsweat coming off this show a mile away.

AWAY FROM NUMBERS: If you're exposed to marketing people for any length of time, you'll inevitably hear "18-49" over and over. It's the most desirable age bracket for customers. The demographic is invoked as the sweet spot, based on the assumption it spans the largest period of earning potential in an adult life. Which is why there will be awailing at the networks when a new study is absorbed into the collective executive grey matter. According to a Varsity story, a study has revealed the average age of viewers is now 50. We might expect a major shift on desirable demographics. In which case, expect incontinence wear to get the Nike treatment, and prime time to fill up with cougars and randy grandpas.

Entertainment in brief

90210. Tori Spelling was scheduled to appear in the pilot of The CW's 90210 spinoff, but it looks like reprising her role as Donna Martin will wait.

"I'm looking forward to returning to 90210 in a later episode," Spelling, 35, said. "But I just had my baby three weeks ago via C-section. So right now I have to focus on recuperating, and my first priority is my family."

The new series, which follows the Wilson family's move from Kansas to Beverly Hills, started shooting this week. PEOPLE.COM

SIMPSONS. Does Denis Leary need to be rescued from Bart Simpson? The Rescue Me star will play himself in the Oct. 5 episode of The Simpsons, losing his cool at and throwing his cellphone in anger. When Bart finds the phone, he uses it to make prank calls — and even winds up accepting a role for Leary in Brian Grazer's big-screen adaptation of Everybody Poops (yes, Grazer also guests). Meanwhile, Julia Louis-Dreyfus reprises her role as Snake's now-pregnant girlfriend in the Sept. 28 season opener. EW.COM

Flattering swimwear

ask kim

I'm looking to buy a new swimsuit but I am a little bit hippy, what type of cut should I be looking for?

Cuts are important for finding the right swimsuit for your body but also consider colours and patterns. Swimco suggests that if you're a bit hippy then you should look out for a printed top and solid bottom. Flattering leg cuts like skirted bottoms and boardshorts can help too. E-mail your style questions to kim.elbo@metronews.ca.

swimsuits

Full piece swimsuits can still look as sexy as a two piece bikini. This summer try a one piece on for the beach. There are a variety of modern styles and cuts that can even be more flattering that wearing the typical two piece. If patterns aren`t your thing than colour blocked suits are your best bet, they`re classic and attention getting.

tip

Like to sit pool side? Chlorine can break down the fibers in swimsuits and make the colour fade faster so try looking for a swimsuit that is made out of polyester — the only swimsuit fabric that can withstand chlorine.

beach hats

Sometimes sunscreen just isn't enough. Protect yourself from the sun and unwanted wrinkles with a hat that`s perfect for the beach and also great for the streets. Look for hats that have a big enough brim to cover your neck and your delicate décolleté. Help keep cool with a breathable hat, straw hats with a loose weave can help with this. If you`re out travelling this summer then a pliable hat you can fold into quarters would be perfect for packing.

A taste of multiculturalism

Three-day Taste of Lawrence festival begins today, represents city's diverse cultures

VERONICA BOODHAN
for Metro Toronto

Scarborough is getting ready to spice up the weekend with the fifth annual Taste of Lawrence festival, starting today on Lawrence Avenue.

"It's a taste of the world in the biggest multicultural neighbourhood in Scarborough," said Hussein Ayoub, chair of The Wexford Heights Business Improvement Area.

The event has been organized by The Wexford Heights Business Improvement Area, a group of retailers and services working to attract business to the area.

The three-day festival features more than 30 vendors selling food as well as clothing, footwear and other items.

SUBMITTED PHOTO

Entertainers will be just a small part of the Taste of Lawrence festival.

"We're promoting the neighbourhood, getting the attention of people in Scarborough and outside (the city)," said Ayoub.

Representing the city's diversity, vendors will include Greek, Chinese and Lebanese communities, to name a few.

There will be entertainment including street performers, amusement rides and other participatory activities.

"There's something for everyone, anyone aged from about five up to 75," said Ayoub.

ABBAMANIA, an ABBA tribute band, is scheduled to perform at tonight's "Retro Friday" event kick-off. A variety of musical groups will perform at the festival throughout the weekend.

Attracting an estimated 125,000 people last year, this year's festival is hoping to double the number of visitors.

"It will be even better than the year before, with more entertainment and more fun things to do. We cater to as many people as we can," said Frank Greco, event organizer.

"It's a taste of the world in the biggest multicultural neighbourhood in Scarborough."
Hussein Ayoub

All net proceeds from this event will be donated to The Wexford Residence, a long-term care facility for senior citizens.

The festival will close down Lawrence Avenue East (from Warden Avenue to Crockford Boulevard) for visitors to walk through the street. But Greco insists this event sets itself apart from other food festivals.

"There is more than one type, there are a variety of different communities and cultures showcasing the multitude of flavours in the city," said Greco.

The Taste of Lawrence festival begins today from 8-11 p.m. The festival continues tomorrow from 11 a.m.- 11 p.m., and Sunday from 11 a.m.- 6 p.m. Admission is free.

11th annual festival includes sidewalk sale with more than 300 local businesses

VERONICA BOODHAN
for Metro Toronto

Kicking off July's first official weekend is the 11th annual Corso Italia Fiesta.

Taking place on St. Clair Avenue West, the area has recently received a makeover with new TTC renovations. The change in the area has also enhanced the festival.

This year's two-day celebration has longer hours for a larger celebration.

"It's in a new effort for people to attend (the festival)," said Jeff Gillan, executive director of the Corso Italia Business Improvement Association.

The Corso Italia BIA created the festival in an effort to promote the St. Clair Avenue West neighbourhood.

"It was created to attract a wider audience and invite people back for a taste of Europe," said Lido Chilelli, co-producer of Corso Italia Toronto Fiesta.

The festival begins tomorrow with a sidewalk sale with more than 300 local businesses offering crafts, clothing, home furnishings and other goods.

"There are products you can't get in normal shopping areas (such as), shoes from Italy," said Gillan. "It's a different kind of shopping experience."

The sidewalk sale is scheduled to continue throughout the weekend.

More than 30 musical acts are scheduled to perform in the area, featuring a range from classical to salsa.

The festival will have two main stages — the Corso Italia BIA stage and the St. Clair Stage for larger bands.

But unlike some other festivals, Corso Italia has more to offer, according to Gillan.

"(The festival) was created to attract people to the area with different types of shops. It's not just for the entertainment."

Visitors can sample the different flavours of Italian, Portuguese and European cuisine while walking through the street to shop at the local businesses.

The festival is expecting more than 250,000 people this weekend.

"It is celebrating Toronto and the heritage of the area (as well as) the future," said Gillan,

"It lets people in the area know what we have is unique."

The Corso Italia Fiesta takes place Saturday from 1-11 p.m., and Sunday from 1-9 p.m. Admission is free.

Fringe Fest picks

Top five choices to check out this weekend

1. Transcendental Masturbation

You've got to be curious if only for the title. Vancouver's Glen Callender is on stage alone with a cheap keyboard and accordion and whatever else comes to hand. His YouTube page features videos of a pig castration — what are you waiting for? Friday 11:15 p.m. Factory Studio, 125 Bathurst St.

2. Fart Factory: The Musical

This one's for the kids — the program description begins with the evocative words "Uranus has erupted!" And you think any kid — or most adult men — you know wouldn't find that funny? Saturday 1:15 p.m.

"Andrea Thompson wrangles with the myth of the predatory older woman ..."

Palmerston Library, 560 Palmerston Ave.

3. Silver And Stinky

You've probably always assumed the bike couriers you see zipping around the city with piratical flair probably hate you — and you're probably right. Greg Dunham's play takes you into the culture of these free radicals in the bloodstream of the working week. Saturday 9:15 p.m. Tarragon Mainspace, 30 Bridgman Ave.

4. Mating Rituals Of The Urban Cougar

Andrea Thompson wrangles with the myth of the predatory older woman stalking the dating scene during a spoken word performance conceived with a beat. Sunday 12 p.m. Glen Morris Theatre, 4 Glen Morris St.

5. Balls!

What defines a man is also the most vulnerable thing about him, an often overlooked fact that gets explored in this comedic drama about testicular cancer. At least half the audience will probably wince and shift in their seats. Sunday, 7 p.m. Factory Mainspace, 125 Bathurst St.

Boyfriend brightens Heather's life

MENTAL HEALTH Still receiving treatment for anxiety and depression at an Arizona facility, Heather Locklear's recent visit from her boyfriend Jack Wagner "really lifted her spirits," People.com reports a friend as saying.

Wagner — who hadn't seen Locklear since she left Los Angeles for the facility on June 19 — spent several hours with her last weekend, sources say. On Sunday, the two had lunch together in the facility's dining area.

"He looked like he was taking care of her," says an observer. "It was very sweet."

Dressed down in sweats and a T-shirt, Locklear, 46, "looked exhausted," says the observer. "Even with no makeup she was beautiful, but she seemed tired, pale and very skinny."

Wagner, 48, chatted to Locklear, leaned in to kiss her on the forehead, and at one point during the otherwise quiet meal, says the observer, "He made her laugh."

Locklear checked herself in to the facility for an in-depth evaluation on the suggestion of a doctor. She had been taking medication for anxiety and depression since after her 2006 split with Richie Sambora, with whom she has a daughter, 10-year-old Ava.

Lily Allen may quit singing

CAREER Lily Allen has announced she may quit music, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

The 23-year-old singer revealed she will give up singing if her eagerly-anticipated second album, tentatively titled Stuck On The Naughty Step, is a flop. Allen recently put the finishing touches to the follow-up to 2006's Alright, Still — which spawned the U.K. No. 1 single Smile — and fears she "got away with something" because of the huge success of her first album.

"I left school at 15," Allen said. "I'm not a genius songwriter. I don't think I'm really good at anything. I'm really scared about what people are going to say. ... If people hate it, then I'll just try something else."

Allen said if she does quit singing she would like to work behind the scenes in the music industry, adding to Rolling Stone magazine: "I'd really like to do A+R at a record company."

Beckhams subject of new musical

THEATRE A musical based on the lives of Victoria and David Beckham is in production, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

The satirical play, entitled MacBecks, is set to open in January.

Long Road Productions, which is involved in the musical and has previously worked with Riverdance, say the production draws inspiration from Shakespeare.

The company's director, Ronan Smith, said: "We're very excited by the script — it's a wild comedy romp that borrows from Shakespeare's Macbeth, King Lear, Romeo And Juliet, as well as Cyrano de Bergerac."

According to reports, Victoria will be based on Lady Macbeth and be portrayed as a ruthless and ambitious woman who David sacrifices his career for.
